For 50 years, your trust is our most powerful source of positive energy

When you unbox one of our products and see the level of perfection it holds, you see a reflection of the hard work the Nexans EUROMOLD's teams have done to make sure that installing it won't get any easier than this. They can guarantee a very high reliability for the future to come.

Test and retest

Electricity is undeniably the pillar of our modern society. With renewable energy and the increasable demand of electricity to power businesses and homes in this new digital age, we need a never-ending stream of power. That's why we check and double check. Not only during product development of the product itself but also by intensively testing and retesting our products in different conditions to make sure that we always deliver a high-quality product.

Nexans EUROMOLD hosts the Elab which, even if belonging to Nexans, is an independent testing lab delivering high quality certifications to Nexans but also to other brand's power accessories.
